About Us:

International vocalist, Annie Kozuch, spent 20 years in Mexico City and has performed throughout the United States and Japan with symphonies, bands and trios. Five years ago she teamed up with jazz pianist, composer, Frank Ponzio (www.FrankPonzio.com) and together they have performed at Feinstein's, the Metropolitan Room, the Laurie Beechman and Stage 72 in Manhattan; numerous venues throughout the tri-state area, as well as at the Natchez Jazz Festival in Mississippi .

Together, they've collaborated on two CDs. Their first, Here With You, peaked at No. 6 on the CMJ jazz charts and their latest release, Mostly Jobim, launched mid-March 2013, landed No.19 on the charts. Whether performing as a duo, trio, quartet or a sextet, Kozuch and Ponzio delight their audiences performing an array of standards from the American Songbook (think Frank Sinatra) adding Mexican love songs from Ms. Kozuch's adopted homeland ("It's Impossible") with recent interpretations from their latest CD with Brazil's 'king of bossa nova', Antonio Carlos Jobim ("Girl from Ipanema").
